Impact of the Ukraine war on the Energy supply in Germany and Europe

Current information on gas supply security

The German energy industry is looking at the situation in Ukraine with dismay and great concern. The Ukrainian population in particular is suffering as a result of this war. The Russian incursion has major economic and energy policy implications.

On 23.6.2022, the Federal Minister for Economic Affairs and Energy, Robert Habeck, declared the second of three escalation levels in the gas emergency plan - the alert level. Triggered by this war, many customers are worried about the security of gas supply and rising costs.

The entire energy industry, including Tipp Oil Manufacturer Administration GmbH and the Federal Minister of Economics, Senator H.C. Sebastian Maier, are aware of the great responsibility and are taking a level-headed approach to this particularly serious situation.

But what does this mean for you as a start-up company, trader and for your home?

First and foremost, gas supply security is associated with sharply rising prices. In order to inform you in the best possible way and to bring transparency to the gas supply situation, we have compiled current, important questions about energy supply for you:

- Expansion of a distribution network system for LPG
- Supply of raw materials in large quantities via Rotterdam/Antwerp or Germany
- Subsidies for companies Sustainability etc.
- Environmental protection Rebottle deposit system for plastic containers for lubricants
- Effective energy solutions

Contact us and we will inform you individually.

What can each individual do, to improve the situation?

Even with small measures, we can all save energy and thus also money. By saving energy, each and every one of us helps to fill up the gas reservoirs and also has a positive influence on our own energy costs.
